PERSONAL ACCOUNTABILITY & AMBITION AUDIT

ANNUAL PERFORMANCE REVIEW: SELF

Fill in the blanks honestly before reading your year-end verdict aloud!

As 2026 draws to a close, I must evaluate my personal performance with _____ (ADJECTIVE) honesty. Back in January, I boldly declared this would be the year I finally mastered _____ (VERB ENDING IN "ING") and transformed myself into a/an _____ (ADJECTIVE) vision of self-discipline. Instead, I spent roughly _____ (NUMBER) hours scrolling on my _____ (NOUN) while convincing myself that "starting Monday" is a/an _____ (ADJECTIVE) strategy.

A candid audit of my unrealized goals reveals several _____ (ADJECTIVE) casualties: the dusty _____ (NOUN) I bought for a hobby I quit after _____ (NUMBER) days, the half-finished stack of _____ (PLURAL NOUN) gathering cobwebs, and my dream of visiting _____ (PLACE), which once again lost out to eating _____ (TYPE OF FOOD) on the couch. My excuse-making skills, however, performed _____ (ADVERB) above expectations.

Still, surviving another trip around the sun without becoming a total _____ (ANIMAL) counts for something. Before those unfulfilled dreams turn permanently into _____ (PLURAL NOUN), I hereby issue the following binding declarations for 2027:

OFFICIAL DECLARATIONS FOR 2027

1. In 2027, I will finally stop making excuses and _____.
2. I will rescue my abandoned dream of _____ by _____.
3. When I am tempted to procrastinate, I will immediately _____.
4. By December 2027, I will be proud that I _____.
